Deadline Approaches For Summer Edition

The Farmers and Consumers Market Bulletin special summer equine edition is scheduled for July 13, 2011. This issue will include notices for horse shows and events in July, August and September, as well as listings of boarding facilities, horses at stud, and ads for miscellaneous equine equipment and supplies. A 30-word limit will be observed for these notices. Deadline for the edition is June 29, 2011. Only one ad per family per issue will be allowed.

Notices included in the "Equine for Sale" and "At Stud" categories must be accompanied by a copy of a valid, negative Coggins test (made within the past 12 months); otherwise, they will not be published.

In addition, the Georgia Animal Protection Act requires boarding and breeding facilities to be licensed. Current license number must be submitted with notices for "At Stud" and "Boarding Facilities." Notices submitted without this information will not be published. For licensing information and applications, call (404) 656-3713.

Farm Front

After surviving repeated budget cuts since 2009 totaling close to 25 percent, the University of Georgia College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences will layoff 18 employees and sell 602 acres of research farms and timberland to make cuts levied by the state for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"We've worked hard over the past three budget cycles to make these drastic cuts without employee layoffs," said J. Scott Angle, CAES dean and director. "We have had massive response to retirement incentives, which coupled with natural attrition reduced our workforce by 355 positions."

The latest cut to the college's Agricultural Experiment Stations and Cooperative Extension Service budgets was more than the college could absorb.

"We have eliminated every inefficiency we could find," Angle said. "We redesigned our Extension delivery system to maximize every dollar and

Governor Requests Secretarial Disaster Designation For Ga. Counties Suffering Ag Losses Due to Drought

Governor Nathan Deal has requested a USDA Secretarial Disaster Designation for 22 Georgia counties due to ongoing drought since December 2010. If the request is approved, farmers in the designated counties and contiguous counties will be eligible to apply for emergency loans and to sign up for other USDA programs that provide assistance to farmers suffering agricultural losses due to natural disasters.

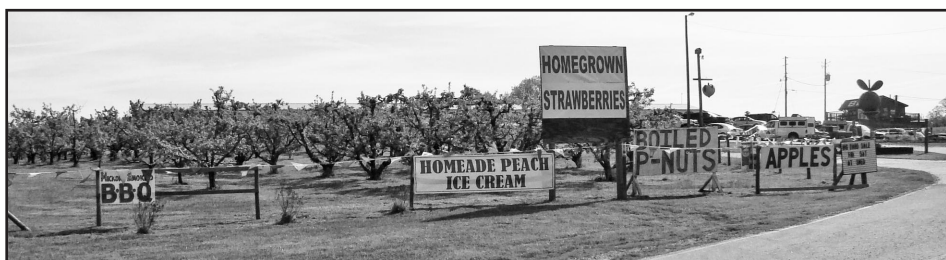

Counties included in the request are: Appling, Atkinson, Bacon, Ben Hill, Brantley, Brooks, Bryan, Chatham, Coffee, Colquitt, Cook, Dodge, Effingham, Irwin, Jeff Davis, Lanier, Lowndes, Pierce, Telfair, Thomas, Wayne and Wheeler. Contiguous counties include: Berrien, Bleckley, Bulloch, Camden, Charlton, Clinch, Echols, Evans, Glynn, Grady, Laurens, Liberty, Long, McIntosh, Mitchell, Montgomery, Pulaski, Screven, Tattnall, Tift, Toombs, Treutlen, Turner, Ware, Wilcox, and Worth.

"This ongoing drought is especially bad as it is so early in the season and has made it difficult for many of our farmers to get a crop planted, much less produced and harvested," said Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Gary Black. "I would like to thank Governor Deal for his prompt action in seeking a Secretarial Disaster Designation for these counties. Unless weather conditions improve soon for our farmers, I fear we will see more requests for assistance."

Last month, members of the State Emergency Board reviewed Loss Assessment Reports for the 22 counties named above. The Governor then submitted his request, along with the LARs and the Board's recommendations, to the Secretary of Agriculture for approval. It normally takes two – three weeks after the information is received by the Secretary for a request to be approved or denied.

Jaemor Farms Offers Fresh Produce and More

Jaemor Farms in Alto, Ga., produces a wide variety of fruits and vegetables which can be purchased at the farm's roadside market. Visitors also can enjoy such treats as homemade peach ice cream and boiled peanuts, as well as activities such as a corn maze each fall.

These days, farmers have to be not only producers of food and fiber, but they also have to be good business men/women as well as part gamblers. In fact, with global competition, natural disasters, and continually rising production costs, farmers have more risks to contend with than many of the high-rollers in Las Vegas.

To maintain positive cash flow, some Georgia farmers have branched out into other enterprises that supplement and complement their existing operations. One

Q: I want to fertilize my azaleas. Can I use the same fertilizer I use on my vegetable garden?

A: If you are not seeing signs of nutrient deficiencies such as excessively yellow leaves and stunted growth, your azaleas may not need any fertilizer at all. In general, azaleas in the landscape require little or no fertilizer. More azaleas die from over-fertilizing than from lack of nutrients. Theoretically, you may be able to use the same fertilizer on your azaleas you fertilize your tomatoes with, but you are likely to burn the azalea roots with it if you are not careful. Instead, use a slow-release fertilizer especially formulated for acid-loving plants such as azaleas, camellias and hollies, and follow

New Facility Will Help Ga. Company Serve Agricultural Producers Worldwide

Georgia Commissioner of Agriculture Commissioner Gary Black was on hand for the opening of the all-new AGCO Global Learning Center in Duluth, Ga., May 16. AGCO is a worldwide manufacturer and distributor of agricultural equipment. The 19,500 square foot facility will serve as the cornerstone of the company's comprehensive learning program for dealers and employees.

"This new state-of-the art facility is a great example of the commitment of AGCO to better serve the needs of agricultural producers, and our state is fortunate to have the global headquarters of this company in Duluth," said Georgia Agricultural Commissioner Gary Black.

Tim Miller, manager, global learning for AGCO, noted that at the company's current pace, as much as 30 percent of the company's product line is replaced with new production-enhancing technology every three to four years. "As growers invest in new technology, they rely heavily upon their dealers for information and assistance. It's our responsibility to ensure our employees and dealers fully understand these new products and their applications," Miller said. "The Global Learning Center will help us deliver hands-on learning in a facility designed to meet the needs of adult learners. This investment is a testimony to an increased emphasis in education for our people."

Advertising Guidelines
Bulletin Publishes Every Other Week

All advertisements published in the Market Bulletin must relate to the farming/agricultural industry or be a part thereof; any and all item(s) submitted for sale through the BULLETIN must meet at least one of the following criteria:

- 1) must be produced by the advertiser on his/her own farming operation,
- 2) must be made by the advertiser from materials on his/her own farming operation,
- 3) must be owned and used by the advertiser on his/her own farming operation for a period of at least 90 days prior to offering for sale through the BULLETIN.

Businesses, corporations, dealerships or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the MARKET BULLETIN. Commercial is defined as intended for mass market; handling large quantities of product for distribution (i.e., more than normal household or farm quantities); supported by advertisement (i.e., advertisement in publications other than the BULLETIN; listed as "business" in telephone directories or "yellow pages", etc.). Other indicators include, but are not limited to, holding business licenses and holding regulatory licenses/permits/registrations.

* Georgia residents only may advertise in the Market Bulletin with the following exception: out-of-state residents may advertise only in the Out-of-State Wanted category.

*The editor has the authority to designate the length of ads and the number of ads that may be placed by a family unit in any issue of the BULLETIN. Currently, only one (1) notice may be placed by any family unit in any issue of the BULLETIN. Family unit refers to all individuals sharing the same residence, address or telephone number.

* Ads must be received no later than designated deadline in order to appear in the following issue. Ads submitted via our website will be scheduled automatically for the next available issue.

* Ads will be published only once each time submitted unless the advertiser specifies on the notice that the ad is to be published more than once. Ads may be published for two (2) consecutive issues. A new notice must be submitted if the advertiser wants the advertisement to continue more than two issues. Note: Some ad categories are published infrequently and are published only once per submission. Please check ad category headings for publication frequency prior to submitting notice.

* There is a 20-word limit for advertisements except as noted under category headings (special categories that are published only monthly, quarterly or bi-annually, have a 30-word limit). Advertiser's name, town, phone number or name and complete address must be included within the word limit. The Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit notices.

* Most advertisers include a telephone number in their ads, but mailing address may be published in lieu of phone number. However, it is important that advertisers provide a phone number when submitting ads in the event Bulletin ad personnel need to contact them concerning their ads. Advertisers who do not want a telephone number printed in their ads should note this fact when submitting the notice to the Bulletin. * Each notice submitted for publication must be in writing; ads cannot be taken by telephone. Notices may be submitted by U.S. mail, facsimile transmission, or via the Internet through the Market Bulletin website. Notices sent via mail or fax must be legible, on a single sheet of paper separate from any other notice, and be accompanied by the name of the category and the name, mailing and street address(es) and telephone number of the person submitting the same. ## Cherry Tomato and Caper Salad

Use both red & yellow cherry tomatoes to add color to this salad.

2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
1 tablespoon small capers, drained
4 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 pint cherry tomatoes, halved
6 fresh basil leaves chopped into small pieces (more or less to taste)
Bibb lettuce leaves (optional)

Combine first 4 ingredients. Drizzle over cherry tomatoes, toss to coat. Let stand 15-60 mins.

Sprinkle basil over tomatoes and serve.

Recipe notes: Try serving in a small bowl and omit the lettuce leaves altogether. Chill in the refrigerator for about 20-30 min. before serving.

Any person engaged in buying live poultry of any kind for resale, or in selling live poultry of any kind bought for the purpose of resale, must be licensed by the Georgia Department of Agriculture. Possessing such a license does not by itself disqualify an individual from advertising poultry in the Market Bulletin; however, advertisers should note that all livestock (which includes poultry), must have been in possession of the advertiser for a minimum of 90 days or, in the case of chicks, ducklings, etc., must have been raised by the advertiser before offering them for sale in the Market Bulletin. Mallard ducks must be at least three generations from the wild before they can be advertised in the Market Bulletin. Advertisers must include this information in notices submitted for publication.

Department’s International Trade Office Works To Promote Ga. Agricultural Products Worldwide

The following article was prepared by Matt Pitts, who is serving as an intern in the Georgia Department of Agriculture International Trade Office in Brussels, Belgium. Pitts is a fourth-year student majoring in Agribusiness at the University of Georgia.

As an intern at the European office of the Georgia Department of Agriculture, I have seen firsthand the amount of work and dedication that is being used to promote Georgia agricultural products and businesses abroad. There are a multitude of trade missions, both inbound and outbound, as well as trade shows around the world that showcase Georgia’s own agricultural products and businesses.

The 2011 SIAL China food and beverage show just wrapped up in Shanghai, China. There were Georgia companies present at the show, including a strong showing from the pecan industry, the poultry industry, as well as some fine Georgia desserts, sauces and other food products. The Shanghai show is one recent example of the exposure Georgia products are getting, and they will be given upcoming opportunities in South Africa, Malaysia, and here in Georgia with an India Inbound Trade Mission.

Johannesburg, South Africa, will be a combination of the 2011 AgriFood Manufacturers & Producers Expo and an Outbound Trade Mission. The AgriFood Expo will be held from July 17-19, and booth space will be offered to Georgia companies. South Africa’s rapid urbanization and increase in disposable income allows for a greater opportunity for Georgia products to penetrate the South African market. Products that have shown great potential in the South African market include processed fruits and vegetables, sauces, spices, edible nuts, shellfish and fish, and organic products. The outbound trade mission will allow Georgia businesses to have one-on-one meetings with buyers from South Africa. In the past there have been meetings with two large retailers ultimately exposing Georgia products to a vast customer base. This year meetings will take place July 20-22.

Also in July there will be the 2011 India Inbound Trade Mission. On Tuesday, July 26, in Atlanta, Indian buyers from various retail stores and importers will be available for one-on-one meetings with Georgia businesses. The Indian market is very important for Georgia agriculture. India has a large population of 1.1 billion, and the food retail sector had an annual growth of 10% in 2010, topping $250 billion. The emerging middle class gives way to potential growth for food and beverage suppliers from Georgia, with products like breakfast foods, snack foods, nuts, beverages, sauces and dressings, jams, specialty foods, and confectionaries showing the greatest potential.

September 20-23 will be the 2011 Food and Hotel Malaysia trade show. With around 18,000 visitors, the show will present many opportunities for suppliers of products. This show is held every two years, with the site switching between Malaysia and Singapore. Malaysia’s 27.7 million people and strong economy make it a desirable export destination for Georgia businesses. Products showing the greatest potential in the Malaysian market are fruits, dairy products, dried fruits and nuts, juices, sauces and condiments, vegetables, Halal food products, and snack foods. The Malaysia show has many benefits for Georgia producers.

These three shows and trade missions are only a handful of the many opportunities the Georgia Department of Agriculture offers to Georgia agricultural businesses. If you have any questions on any of the three trade shows or missions, please contact the Georgia Department of Agriculture’s International Trade Office by calling 404-656-3740, or by visiting website www.agr.georgia.gov, select Divisions, then select International Trade. The staff will be more than happy to assist with any questions you may have.

AG SEED FOR SALE

If you have questions regarding this category, call Shavonne Smith at 404-651-9081 or 404-651-9082.

Advertisers of agricultural seed must submit a current state laboratory report (not more than 9 months old) for purity, noxious weeds and germination for each seed lot advertised. A seed lot must be uniform and not exceed 400 50-lb. bags. Laboratory reports will be returned upon request. Any ads for agricultural seed submitted for publication without this documentation will not be published. Licensed seed dealers cannot advertise seed in the Market Bulletin. Certain varieties of seed are protected from propagation unless they are grown as a class of certified seed. For example, wheat seed such as Florida 304, Coker 9152, Coker 9835 and soybean seed, such as Prichard and Benning, may not be propagated for sale unless the seed has been grown as a class of certified seed. Propagation of such seed is a violation of the Plant Variety Protection Act and the Federal Seed Act. The market is open every Tuesday and Saturday from 8 a.m. till noon. For more information call 478-247-3613.

Many Counties Eligible for Livestock Forage Program

As of press time, 91 counties in Georgia have been determined eligible for assistance under the Livestock Forage Program (LFP). At the present time, the eligible counties lie primarily in the central and southern part of the state and are too numerous to list individually as new counties are becoming eligible every week. The Livestock Forage Program (LFP) provides disaster benefits to eligible livestock producers in counties that have been determined eligible based on a qualifying Drought Intensity Rating as shown in the Georgia Drought Monitor.

A county's eligibility is based solely on the drought level as shown on the U.S. Drought Monitor for Georgia. In order to be eligible for LFP, a county must be rated at least at the D-2 level for 8 consecutive weeks or the D-3 level or greater for at least one week during the applicable grazing period. There are no other means by which a county can qualify for LFP but by the Drought Monitor Intensity Ratings as shown for Georgia. For more information on the Georgia Drought Monitor, visit website http://drought.unl.edu/dm/DM\_state.htm?GA,SE

there are several other qualifying conditions that individual producers must meet in order to be determined eligible for assistance in LFP. The most important eligibility requirement is that producers are required to obtain NAP coverage or Crop Insurance on the particular type of grazing for which LFP benefits are requested, or meet one of the three exemptions to the Risk Management Purchase Requirements (RMPR). If the producer qualifies as either a Limited Resource or Socially

After the tornado outbreak in April, the American peanut industry organized to get nutritious peanut butter, peanut products and fresh water to the tornado victims in 6 states. Uniting behind Peanut Proud, the 501(c3) humanitarian arm of the American peanut industry, deliveries continue to be made to food distribution centers around the devastated areas.

The Peanut Proud Board dispatched different teams from the peanut industry to deliver from the American peanut industry roasted peanuts, peanut butter, and peanut candies to the tornado disaster regions of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. Teams delivered 1,200 backpacks filled with Disadvantaged producer, or Beginning Farmer, they are not required to purchase NAP or Crop Insurance to meet RMPR.

Because of the rapidly changing list of eligible counties, interested producers should check with their local FSA offices for information on updated county eligibility, as well as other individual producer requirements. The following Georgia FSA County Office Locator website is provided to help producers in locating FSA offices:

"The peanut industry response has been awesome and unbelievable," said Sally Wells, Director of Logistics for Birdsong Peanuts based in Blakely, GA. "Over $81,000 worth of peanut products has been donated along with $72,000 in cash donations and we continue to accept gifts to place product in the hands of churches and relief groups helping the regions. Peanut growers from every producing state have donated plus the National Peanut Board...that's great!"

The LFP was authorized under the 2008 Farm Bill to provide compensation to eligible livestock producers that have suffered grazing losses for covered livestock on land that is native or improved pastureland with permanent vegetative cover or is planted specifically for grazing. A fact sheet on LFP is available at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/Internet/FSA\_File/lfp\_2011\_pfs.pdf.

U.S. history, tornadoes hit seven states on April 26 and 27 killing hundreds and wiping out many small communities. Hardest hit was the rural crossroads of Mississippi, mid-sized cities in Alabama and many rural communities in North Georgia and Tennessee. Another tornado outbreak recently occurred in Joplin, Missouri and the Northeast areas of Oklahoma.

"This peanut industry has a heart of gold," stated Tyron Spearman, Chairman of the American Peanut Council from Georgia. "Peanuts and peanut butter are ideal products during a disaster. No

Chop a few raw or toasted pecans and sprinkle them on your cold cereal or oatmeal. Instead of butter on your toast, try a fruit spread mixed with pecans. Spread cream cheese on a bagel and top it with some pecans. For a quick breakfast that packs a lot of nutrition, smear a banana with peanut butter, then sprinkle on pecans and raisins. One of the best sources for recipes for using pecans is the Georgia Pecan Commission www.georgiapekansfit.org. Whether you are planning an elaborate “sit-down” breakfast or you need a quick bite as you rush for the door, pecans are a tasty and nutritious way to start the day.

80-acre parcel of pasture and timberland outside of Griffin, Ga., for sale. On May 23, the college offered the 522-acre Plant Sciences Farm in Watkinsville, Ga., for sale, too.

In addition, the college will close the peach research facility at Byron, Ga., and pecan pest management, horticulture research and plant pathology programs at its campus in Tifton, Ga. It will also make further staff reductions on the Griffin and Athens campuses.

“We chose to eliminate programs that were low priorities within the departments and programs where relevant, reliable information was available to clients from another CAES department or from USDA,” Angle said.

Angle said highly publicized tuition and student fee hikes left many legislators and taxpayers with the impression the university wasn’t really cutting the budget.

“Not only has the College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences taken bigger cuts and lost more positions than the rest of the university over the past three years, the cuts are real and permanent for us,” Angle said. “Unlike other colleges within the university that can offset budget cuts with tuition increases, we benefit very little from tuition.”

The ag college is funded differently from other UGA colleges because Cooperative Extension and Agricultural Experiment Stations are separate state budgets from the university’s instruction budget. Those two organizations’ funds make up the majority of the college’s state budget allocation. Neither gets any funding from university tuition.

“Making permanent decisions like selling land and laying off employees are never easy decisions,” Angle said. “But, we are out of options. We must make decisions that will help us function effectively long-term as a much smaller college.”

stripling or bronzing of the foliage. If you find white webs on the underside of leaves, it indicates the presence of spider mites. If mites are present, look for an insecticide made to treat these pests and use according to label directions.

Begin cutting herbs for drying. The day before you plan to harvest herbs, gently rinse them with a garden hose. Cut the plants after the dew has dried, but before the sun gets too hot. By harvesting in this manner you will help preserve the most flavor in your herbs.

If you have peach trees, you can improve your crop by thinning it about 70 days after full bloom. Waiting longer will result in poorer quality fruit. Also, the weight of the fruit may break some of the tree limbs. After your trees have finished dropping fruit naturally, thin them and leave the biggest and best-shaped peaches about four to six inches apart.

Check for signs of sooty mold on crepe myrtle, azaleas and gardenias. This fungus appears as a black coating on the foliage. Sooty mold grows on the sugary substance (called honeydew) that is secreted by aphids and whiteflies. The fungus is unattractive and it blocks sunlight to the leaves. Sooty mold can be controlled only by killing the aphids and whiteflies that cause the problem. Before purchasing a pesticide, be sure to check the label to be certain the product will control these insects.

refrigeration is required, it is quick energy and it is comfort food during a time of sadness. From growers, to buying stations, to shellers and manufacturers, it is amazing how much this industry cares and wants to help.”

Spearman said the Peanut Proud Board in Blakely, Georgia, created to rebuild the image of a great industry and town after the salmonella incident four years ago, became the logistics team for getting the peanut products to food centers.

“It’s a labor of love,” said Lea Jean Manry, chairman of Peanut Proud, as she escorted a semi load of peanut butter to Tuscaloosa, Alabama. “To visit the victims and towns is a heartbreaking experience. To see and feel their appreciation for the food help and assistance makes one proud of their industry support and makes you want to do more.”

2011 Outdoor Water Use Rules

The Georgia Water Stewardship Act (SB 370), which became effective June 1, 2010, specified new rules for outdoor water use statewide.

Outdoor water use is now allowed daily as-needed, with limitations during the daytime hours between 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Outdoor water users can responsibly utilize water in the landscape by following this schedule and employing best management practices outlined in the University of Georgia’s “Best Management Practices for Landscape Water Conservation.”

The rules are as follows:

(1) Persons may irrigate outdoors daily for purposes of planting, growing, managing, or maintaining ground cover, trees, shrubs, or other plants only between the hours of 4 p.m. and 10:00 a.m. Except for the uses/types of irrigation listed below, irrigation is not allowed between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

(2) The following outdoor water use is allowed at all times (no limits on time of day):

- a) Commercial agricultural operations;
- b) Capture and reuse of cooling system condensate or storm water in compliance with applicable local ordinances and state guidelines;
- c) Reuse of gray water and use
- d) Use of reclaimed waste water;
- e) Irrigation of personal food gardens;
- f) Irrigation of new and replanted plant, seed, or turf in landscapes, golf courses, or sports turf fields during installation and for a period of 30 days immediately following the date of installation;
- g) Drip irrigation or irrigation using soaker hoses;

Water Plants with Conservation in Mind

With extreme hot and dry conditions likely to continue for the foreseeable future, gardeners and homeowners should take steps to conserve water as much as possible. Following are some tips to help water garden and landscape plants conservatively:

Mulch your plants to conserve water. Three to five inches of mulch material, such as pine straw, leaves or pine bark will help plants retain moisture. Fine-textured mulches, such as mini-bark nuggets, will trap moisture in the soil better than coarsely textured materials. Mulches also help to control weeds, which use up valuable soil moisture needed for other plants.

Water only those plants that need water. Some plants, like holly and juniper, can survive weeks without extra water once

h) Handwatering with a hose with automatic cutoff or handheld container (includes chemical applications)

i) Use of water withdrawn from private water wells or surface water by an owner or operator of property if such well or surface water is on said property;

j) Irrigation of horticultural crops held for sale, resale, or installation;

k) Irrigation of athletic fields, golf courses, or public turf grass recreational areas;

l) Installation, maintenance, or calibration of irrigation systems;

m) Hydroseeding.

The previous odd/even schedule still applies to non-landscape outdoor water use. The following are designated as non-landscape outdoor uses: car washing at home, charity car washes, hosing driveways, outdoor cleaning, pressure washing by homeowner, and topping off pools. Even addresses may water Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays; odd addresses may water Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays. There are no hourly restrictions for this schedule.

*The University of Georgia’s “Best Management Practices for Landscape Water Conservation” integrate plant selection, plant adaptation, irrigation, cultural and management practices, and a change in the acceptable expectations of plant performance under sub-optimal water conditions. The primary objective of these BMPs is to reduce landscape water use — not just during periods of drought, but throughout the entire growing season. Water conservation is an improvement in they are established, whereas other plants may need water more often. With this in mind, group plants with similar water needs when you plan your landscape.

Use less fertilizer to reduce water needs. When plant growth is encouraged through fertilization, its water requirements will increase. By cutting back on the amount of fertilizer and the frequency of application, you will lessen new water-demanding growth.

Avoid shearing plants. Like fertilizer, shearing stimulates new water-demanding growth. Selective thinning will reduce the plant size, but will not encourage as much new growth as shearing.

Shade landscape plants when possible. Shade will keep the landscape cooler and cut down on water loss from plants.

every employee. We leveraged every research grant, and we just came up short.”

After examining and prioritizing the college’s programs, Angle decided to close several research programs, further tighten select county Extension offices and sell valuable farmland to be able to make pending cuts.

“We have to look at these budget cuts as permanent,” Angle said. “It’s clear we won’t be able to rebuild any of our programs in the near future, so we must reduce our workforce, programs and infrastructure to match our new budget realities.”

Earlier this year, the college listed an

Q: What are some fruits and vegetables that can be grilled?

A: Asparagus, corn-on-the-cob, eggplant, green beans, carrots, mushrooms, Vidalia onions, garlic, peppers, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, summer squash, winter squash and tomatoes are the most common vegetables used, and they go well with commonly grilled meats such as steaks and chicken. The same is true for fruits. Georgia peaches are a favorite for grilling. Apples, pears, pineapples and plums are also possibilities. Softer fruits will become mushy if overcooked. You will need to be more attentive to these while they are grilling. Check a cookbook or a reputable cooking website to see the different ways vegetables and fruits can be prepared on the grill. Your grill should not be used only for meats; put some Georgia Grown fruits and vegetables on it.

Q: I am planning a full day’s menu that has Georgia products as part of every course. Do you have any ideas for using pecans for breakfast?

A: Consider pecans for any meal and for almost any menu item – entrée, appetizer, bread, dessert, side dish, salad, soup or snack – that could use a little more protein, vitamins, minerals, crunch or flavor. For breakfast, try pecan pancakes or French toast.

If Japanese beetles are eating your plant foliage, you can reduce their population through the use of traps; however, be sure to place the traps about 30 feet downwind of the plants you want to protect. If placed too close to the plants, the traps will attract more beetles to them. You can find traps at outlets where lawn and garden supplies are sold.

Azaleas, aucubas and hollies are especially susceptible to mites at this time of year. The mites are so tiny that you may not see them, but you will be aware of their presence by the yellow
